100 ARRESTS IN HUNT FOR SLAYERS OF MERCHANT

...ry Into Murder of Max
Biederman by Robbers
Has Centered on Roundup of Negro Men.

TWO SEEN LEAVING STORE AFTER KILLING

Woman and Man Depended Upon for Their Identification, but None so Far Announced.

Police investigation of the murder of Max Biederman in a robbery of his hardware store at 1407 Franklin avenue, shortly before noon yesterday, has centered on a roundup of negroes to be viewed by a man who encountered the probable robbers and murderers, two negroes.

Nearly 100 negroes were arrested. Their detention was part of an unusual police activity which followed the Biederman killing, and which had reference also to the murder of Special Policeman Henry by a burglar and the Arcadia Dance Hall holdup. In all, 231 persons were arrested on the streets and in saloons and pool halls, in the 10 hours before 7 a. m. today. Of the 231, only one was found to be carrying a weapon.

James Coughlin, who has a patent medicine shop at 1431 1/2 Franklin avenue and who found Biederman unconscious and saw his supposed assailants, viewed the negro suspects. Mrs. Mary Kaplan of No. 1420, who saw Biederman waiting for a burglar, also viewed the men. No identification has been announced. The two also looked at Rogues' Gallery photographs.

Tells of Seeing Biederman.

Mrs. Kaplan related that she made a purchase across the street from Biederman's between 11:30 a. m. and noon yesterday. She crossed and passed in front of the hardware store, where, she said, she recognized Biederman standing in the front part, exhibiting some article to a male customer. His back was turned and she could not tell the customer's color. She continued to her home, passing Coughlin, who was approaching the store. Coughlin declared to policemen and reporters that as he entered Biederman's shop at 11:45 a. m. to buy nails and screws, a tall negro, who appeared to be almost white, was leaving, and said to him: "No use going in there, the store is closed." Coughlin replied: "Surely somebody's here," and entered, while this man left.

Inside, a heavyset, black negro was making a clatter with an oil can and some pans. Coughlin related, and explained, "I'm testing the water," he said. Just then a foreign-appearing woman entered and said something about paying for some cans she had bought, but she left as Coughlin's attention was distracted by moans.

Found Behind Counter.

Tracing the sound, Coughlin found on the floor behind a back counter the huddled, unconscious form of Biederman, whose head was bleeding profusely from wounds. Coughlin ran to a cafeteria at the corner for help, leaving the heavy negro in the store, he said, but when he returned with assistance this man had gone.

Biederman's pockets were turned inside out, and torn, as from a hurried search and contained only two dimes. Near his body lay an empty quart soda-water bottle, apparently blood-stained. It was used to beat the merchant about the head, and as trying to develop finger prints from it. The cash till was empty. Biederman was taken to the City Hospital, where he died at 1:20 p. m., without having regained consciousness.

Mrs. Biederman said her husband habitually carried $15 to $20 in his pockets. He had no help in the store except when he assisted him occasionally. Police Capt. Nally reported it was a clear case of robbery.

Testimony at Inquest.

Coughlin's testimony at the inquest today gave details somewhat different from those he related yesterday. He said that the foreign-appearing woman was a Bohemian, and that she was wrapping some cups when he entered, while the dark negro stood idly by. The latter suggested putting a bell cord to raise some one. Coughlin testified. He amplified his description of this man by saying his face was pockmarked.

Several other witnesses told of seeing Biederman in his store during the morning. The inquest was continued until Friday for further police investigation.

The negroes arrested were taken in saloons, streets and alleys in the vicinity of the hardware shop, which is a center of a district densely populated by various nationalities.

One negro who resembles in a general way Coughlin's description of a large dark man is held at Police Headquarters while his claim that he was at work yesterday is checked.

When policemen questioned yesterday a woman residing over the Biederman store, her doorbell rang and two youths appeared at the door. One of them asked the woman: "Is Cora here?" She replied "no," gruffly, and then they saw the officers' uniforms, whereupon they ran away in opposite directions. The woman said they were linen peddlers. She and a man boarder in the house were arrested for questioning.

Biederman, who was 48 years old, is survived by his widow and two children, Alexander, 18, and Vivian, 9. He resided at 4928 1/2 Ashland avenue. His funeral will be held at an undertaking establishment at 4356 Lindell boulevard at 2 p. m. tomorrow, with burial in Chesed Shalom Cemetery. He had been in business on Franklin avenue about 25 years and his little store was so filled with hardware and junk that there was room for only one person to pass through the doorway.

CITY'S PLAN TO ABOLISH DELMAR CROSSING UPHELD

desirable as the railroad plan for its purposes, we cannot see that there is any substantial difference to the railroad which plan is adopted, except as to the cost.

"We hold that the Wabash plan is destructive of the interests of a large number of people in the vicinity who would be left without redress, as well as the general public, by marring and impairing the beauty of perhaps the most attractive residential district and park in the city of St. Louis.

An injustice to the railroad, on account of its greater cost, is fully met, in our judgment, by the imposition of 40 per cent of the cost upon the city of St. Louis, by the order of the majority of the commission.

Assumption as to Damages.

The opinion pointed out that both the city and railroad company had assumed that property owners adjoining the railroad right-of-way would be indemnified for damages for injury to the value of their property, on account of the cut or depression contemplated under the Wabash plan, except where the grade of streets was changed.

"We do not see how it can be understood as either consenting to or denying that view," the opinion stated. "But whether that assumption is true or not, we think by far the greater damage to private property in the district, whether adjoining the railroad or not, would be done by the Wabash plan."

The court ruled adversely on a contention of Wabash attorneys that the Interstate Commerce Commission had taken power to eliminate grade crossings away from the State and given it to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Court decisions were cited in the opinion to the effect the State had power to order the elimination of such grade crossings at the expense of the railroad, without conflict with the constitution or interstate commerce.

Robbers Get $5000 in Furs.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25.—Two men and two women were held up by a mob in the fashionable fur shop of C. O. Gerhardt, in the residential district of the city, the robbers escaping in an automobile with furs valued at more than $5000. Gerhardt, the owner of the building, and women employees, were in the building. The women were forced into a closet and the men held up for cover of revolvers, while the robbers looted the place.

COMMUNITY FUND WORKERS WILL CONTINUE DRIVE

000 Chairman Says.

Workers for the 1925 Community Fund will continue solicitation this week to complete the fund, the success of which is believed to be assured by incomplete figures reported at the meeting of Volunteer workers in Moolah Temple last night.

"With a goal of $1,751,521, the fund had been less than 70 per cent subscribed at the last previous report, which was made Saturday. The work of Sunday and yesterday, the return received by mail from the solicitation of the previous days, brought the subscriptions to a figure which was not totaled last night, but which Thomas N. Dysart, general chairman, estimated at $1,500,000.

Confident of Success.

He expressed confidence that the remainder would be raised by the gifts of contributors who were still to be seen.

It was explained that the "door knob" method of soliciting, employed this year, has proven slower than the less personal methods of former years. The gain from the "door knob" method, it is believed, is that a total number of subscribers will be much larger than in past years.

The subscription now on hand, it was stated, exceeds those of last year by more than $50,000.

The final meeting of workers was not a dinner meeting. The announcements of divisions which had reached their quota were greeted with cheers. The St. Louis County division made the first of these encouraging announcements. The colored Population Division was announced as being over-subscribed.

It is estimated that the final audit will show 120,000 subscriptions to the fund, which is to care for 50 philanthropic agencies, making it unnecessary for them to appeal to the public individually.

Subscriptions announced last night of $1000 or more were: $15,000—Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Knight.

$10,000—Paul Brown.

$5000—Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

$5000 each—Frank C. Rand; Associated Bankers of St. Louis.

BOOKING FIRM SUES VALENTINO

Allege $16,687 Is Due for Getting Him Job.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 25.—Suits asking for judgments aggregating $16,687 against Rudolph Valentino, motion picture actor, were filed in Superior Court yesterday by assignees of Robertson and Webb, film booking agents, who allege the money is due them for obtaining employment for Valentino with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in November, 1921.

Valentino was to receive $1250 a week to start, the complaint states, after which his salary was to increase gradually to a maximum of $3000 weekly. The plaintiffs, it is alleged, were to receive 10 per cent of the screen star's salary for the first year and 5 per cent thereafter, but in fact received only a portion of the commission anticipated and the contract, Valentino quitting his employment after a few months.

he lost that belonged to the Antikamnia company." Nobody asked him, however.

Company Formed in 1889.

On cross-examination by Harold R. Small, attorney for the defendants, Cox went into the organization of the Antikamnia Co. He said it was founded in 1889 with Cox holding a half interest and Ruf and Louis L. Frost, quarter shares each. Cox was then, and still is, secretary of the firm. Ruf, who was treasurer, also became president when Frost resigned. Cox said he paid $28,000 for Frost's stock and presented it to Ruf.

This presentation took place on the steps of the "Bank of the Republic," at the southeast corner of Ninth and Olive streets, Cox said, relating:

"I says, 'Frankie, you take this stock. I don't want to have any advantage of you in any way. Whenever the dividends, if they ever do, pay out on this particular stock, you can send me a check for that amount.'"

"I think the man was almost driven crazy. He didn't expect that. He didn't know what a friend I was to him."

"He Followed Cox."

Subsequent questioning disclosed that Cox was reimbursed "almost immediately" through dividends on the stock. He said Ruf was in direct management of the business as Cox spent most of his time in New York. In reply to a leading question, Cox said:

"No, he didn't make a tremendous success of it. I followed Cox. He always consulted—he telegraphed me or wrote me. I received word from him every day of my life, pretty near, asking certain questions, and I would pass on them; and he took my advice in every case."

"A great deal of money" was earned by the company, Cox said. How much? "Well, according to Mr. Ruf's will, he left something near $3,000,000. I was informed by people in St. Louis that it was undervalued."

Testimony of Dr. Cox indicated Ruf's start toward a fortune followed his dismissal as a drug clerk. When Ruf worked at Alexander's drug store, Fourth and Market streets, he was put on probation several times for drinking and finally "fired," Cox recalled. Ruf "went at least 20 men to Inter-ander's drug store, Fourth and Market streets, he was put on probation several times for drinking and finally "fired," Cox recalled.

hardly. He was staggering around even when he didn't have any liquor in him. That was the time he was taking drugs, and he didn't know just exactly what he was talking about, and couldn't converse in any way at all. He was erratic.

"At these affairs that he got into towards the last, that he lost so much money in, he was crazy absolutely. He lost money in every one of them. In Cinderella Heels he lost $80,000 and more."

Dr. Cox Describes Holdings.

Dr. Cox never lost any money, he said. He "always lived better than Frank" and had an extravagant wife, besides. Describing his holdings, in addition to his Antikamnia stock, he listed a 400-acre country estate at Ridgefield, Conn., valued by him at $1,000,000, and a 16-story building on Murray Hill, New York, valued by him at $1,250,000. Cox said he gave his wife the skyscraper the other day and is now teaching her how to "run" it.

On direct examination by Attorney Coffey, Dr. Cox said he first saw the plaintiff—Mrs. Alpha Ruf Shelp—when she was 8 years old, and was living with the Rufs, who had no children of their own. Her father died about this time and her mother, a sister of Mrs. Ruf, often visited at the Ruf home.

"Member of the Family."

Asked to outline the girl's position as she grew older in the Ruf home, Dr. Cox said:

"She was a member of the family. She took full control of the duties of the family. She arranged for my comfort during my visits. She always gave up her room to me and took a smaller room somewhere in the back of the house. She had the best room in the house."

Ruf "always displayed a great deal of affection for her," Dr. Cox continued. Whenever he and Ruf arrived at the Ruf home, Mrs. Ruf and her niece would meet the men at the door, and Ruf, according to Dr. Cox, "always showed his fondest affection for the niece first" by hugging and kissing her.

Once Dr. Cox asked his partner, "Frank, what are you going to do with all your wealth?" and Ruf, according to Cox, replied: "I have an heir in Alpha," referring to Alpha Ruf Hatch, the niece. Ruf told Dr. Cox, the latter testified, that he had given Mrs. Ruf $50,000 in bonds, prompting Dr. Cox to say that it was "fair and Mrs. Ruf should receive not less than $250,000." Dr. Cox quoted Ruf's reply:

"No! No! I won't give her that much money. I will give her $50,000—I have already given it to her."

Dr. Cox suggested, "she can't live in this house and keep it up," and Ruf is said to have replied, "let her go to a boarding house." "Fighting for Mrs. Ruf."

This and similar conversations took place in recent years, Dr. Cox said. Dr. Cox declared he was "fighting for Mrs. Ruf," who often came to him, when he stopped at

CONTESTS RUF WILL AS AN ADOPTED DAUGHTER

Kandeler Photo.
MRS. ALPHA RUF SHELPS.

Hotel Jefferson, "crying, with her handkerchiefs soaked with tears."

The Hatch girl accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ruf on many trips, to New York and elsewhere. She also called daily for Ruf at the Antikamnia offices, 1624 Pine street, in Ruf's car, and his chauffeur would drive both home in it.

The witness was asked if Ruf ever referred in his presence to Ruf's blood relatives. He replied:

"He (Ruf) told me he would never give any member of his family a single dollar—not one Ruf. He said they were 'no good'; that was a great remark of his, 'No good.'"

Recalling the marriage of Miss Hatch to Willard B. Shelp Jr., a real estate dealer, in February, 1920, the marriage being the alleged reason why Ruf ignored Mrs. Shelp in his will, Dr. Cox said Mr. and Mrs. Ruf were in the East at the time. Ruf was displeased at the marriage, for he wired Dr. Cox "Sad disappointment to both families."

Says Ruf Seemed Despondent.

After the marriage, Ruf seemed despondent and insisted his wife's niece had made "a great mistake," Dr. Cox said. However, he continued to treat her with affection and she reciprocated.

Ruf "didn't like Miss Alpha to receive company at all," the witness said.

NATIONAL BUDGET COMPLETED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Despite last-minute additions to meet the wishes of Cabinet officials, the national budget for the next fiscal year, as completed today at a conference between President Coolidge and Budget Director Lord, limits the ordinary expenditures of the Government to figure well under the $1,800,000,000 total fixed by President Coolidge in his talk last June to Government fiscal officials.

Lord declined to reveal the precise total or discuss details of the budget, but he said previous expectations of the governmental expenditures possible had been more than realized. For one thing, the original estimate of the cost of the soldier bonus law had proved too high.

ness said. Further questioning along this line resulted in some cryptic answers. Asked if he knew why Ruf opposed "company" for his niece, Cox replied, "Well, I knew why. He didn't have to tell me."

"Did he ever express to you any desire that Miss Alpha should marry any particular person?"

"No, he never mentioned that, but I knew all about it. And I didn't care to ever bring it up to him. We didn't talk about it. He knew that I knew it, and that was enough."

Ruf did tell Cox, he testified, that Mrs. Hatch had brought her daughter to the Ruf home and he (Ruf) had taken her in as one of his family. Mrs. Hatch lived with the Rufs for a while, but returned to Buffalo, N. Y., and remarried. Cox said Alpha had been enrolled in school here by the Rufs. He qualified this by saying:

"That is, Mr. Ruf told me so. He told me so many things that were true, and a great many that were not true, but I will take it for granted that he was truthful on that occasion. He had a habit of lying to me all the time. I never could find out—he was not a truthful man."

"Was Majorene Demo?"

The Rufs also paid the girl's expenses while she studied music at Deane Academy, Boston, Cox testified, explaining he not only had Ruf's word for this, but had presumptive evidence as "there was nobody else to pay them. Her mother had no money."

Here, Cox added to his previous definition of the niece's standing in the deposition took place in the evenings on the veranda of the Ruf home on Cabanne avenue. Mrs. Ruf was never present.

UTILITIES NOT BOUND BY PERMANENT TERMS

Supreme Court Rules on Operating Conditions Under Franchise Grants.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 25.—
The Supreme Court en banc, today handed down a decision to the effect that municipalities cannot impose permanent operating conditions upon public utility companies, in the terms of franchise grants.

The decision was rendered in the case of the City of Cape Girardeau vs. the Frisco railroad, to prevent the removal of shops from Cape Girardeau, which, under the terms of a franchise ordinance enacted by the city, the railroad was required to keep at that place.

Division No. 2 of the court previously rendered the same decision, but there was a dissenting opinion, which caused the case to be transferred to the court en banc for review.

The opinion handed down by Division No. 2, in which the court en banc concurred, was written by Judge David Blair, with Judges
White, Ragland and Woodson con-curring. Chief Justice Graves concurred in a separate opinion.

The city franchise ordinance in question provided that the Frisco was to maintain and operate the shops which were located in Cape Girardeau at the time of the ordinance, 1911, and that it should build no other shops for "heavy repairs" at any point within 100 miles of Cape Girardeau.

Under the terms of the ordinance the franchise was subject to forfeiture if the company failed to perform any of the conditions of the ordinance, and upon such failure, after notice by the city the railroad could be ousted from the city. The railroad company went into receivership in 1913, and the reorganization took place in 1916.
When the new company filed in Federal Court at St. Louis early in 1917 the list of contracts, leases and obligations it had assumed for the old company, the Cape Girardeau contract was not included.
The city filed suit, alleging the railway company planned to remove the shops.

Judge Blair, in his opinion, declared that "Neither the State nor any of its agencies (cities, towns or villages) has or ever has had the power to contract away the police power of the State, and franchises granted or ordinances passed by cities affecting subjects coming within the police power of the State must be considered as having been granted or passed with reference to the power of the State, in the exercise of its police power to legislate with respect to such matters and subjects, unfettered by provisions of such franchises and ordinances."

"Economical and efficient operation would be impossible unless the State or its delegated agencies have the power under the police power of the State to say that further performance of such provision of the franchise was incompatible with the general welfare."

RHINELANDER HOME TO BE SECRET EVEN FROM FRIENDS

Furniture in New Rochelle Being Packed—Europe Is Hinted as Future Residence.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Mrs.
Leonard Kip Rhinelander was in her suite in the Pindar Apartments, New Rochelle, today packing furniture and packing her personal belongings. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs.
George Jones, and they spent the day preparing to give up the apartment.

Rhinelander failed to appear and no one in New Rochelle could be found who knows where he is. Mrs.
Jones said that the couple see each other frequently and that they will soon leave together for a place where even young Rhinelander's closest friends will not be able to find them—probably for Europe.

NEW CORN-HUSKING CHAMPION

Defeats Five Others in Iowa for Midwest Title.

By the Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 25.—
Fred Stanek of Fort Dodge yesterday won the Midwest corn-hus-king championship, defeating five other entries from Nebraska, Illinois and Iowa. Virgil Archer, Benedict, Neb., was second; Perle
Mansfield, Nokomis, Ill., third; Ben Grimm, Grundy Center, Ia.,
fourth; Henry Nelhaus, Nokomis, Ill., fifth, and Louis Dinklage, Wisner, Neb., sixth.

Stanek had a net total of 1704.6 pounds in one hour and 30 minutes after deductions of 41.6
"uncle" husking were made. Nel-haus, a 53-year-old farmer, went through the contest using an old-fashioned wooden peg. Stanek received $100 as prize money.

CONVICTED OF FIRING OWN HOME

By the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 25.—
Miss Frances Stabb, arrested last July charged with setting fire to her home, today was convicted of first-degree arson. The offense carries a maximum penalty of 40 years' imprisonment, but leniency was recommended by the jury.
Miss Stabb was found bound and gagged in her home when firemen answered an alarm. She told a sensational story of being attacked by burglars who ransacked the house. The prosecution alleged that she confessed to setting the fire and binding herself to obtain insurance.

Manufacturers know when we tell them we are planning an $18 Dress Sale that the usual lines offered for retailing at that price won't do.

It has become an unwritten custom for them to say,
"We have been holding this group for you" or "I'm going to let you have that line" (mentioning a higher price) with the result that our $18 sales are events of first importance.

You will find the newest modes in frocks for all occasions. There is hardly a material which has not been used. Details which you will recognize as smart are abundantly used. Truly, an extraordinary opportunity.

GRAND-LEADER

CURTIS, BUTLER AND WARREN TO RULE SENATE

Kansas Will Be Floor Leader and Massachusetts Man Will Be White House Spokesman.

WARREN STEPS ASIDE FOR CURTIS

Wyoming Senator to Head Appropriations Committee—Butler Wants to Go on Finance Committee.

By CHARLES MICHELSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Senator Warren of Wyoming, who was elected to the majority leadership of the Senate by right of seniority, will forego that honor and support Senator Curtis of Kansas for the post.

This means that a triumvirate, consisting of William M. Butler, Lodge's successor, Curtis and Warren, will run the Senate; the first as the mouthpiece of the White House, the second as the floor chief, and the third as chairman of the Appropriations Committee—and a stronger combination would be hard to imagine. Warren withdrew from the list of candidates for the Senate leadership yesterday.

Butler, by authority of his intimacy with the President and his chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, naturally, will be the first consul. Butler already has overridden the Senate tradition that sentences a newcomer to obscurity. He drives to the capitol in a White House car. He already has taken possession of Lodge's quarters in the Senate Office Building and has served notice that he wants an appointment to the Finance Committee. Later he is expected to ask that he be named on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Metzger, the new Senator from Rhode Island, also is due to be on the Finance Committee, which is the lookout sound for the protective tariff. It looks like a return to the Aldrich days, when that statesman was chairman and Boise Penrose, Hale of Maine, Cullom of Illinois and Lodge were all members. Reed Smoot of Utah also was in the committee in those days and is chairman of it now. Likewise Smoot is next in rank to Warren of the Appropriations Committee.

Naturally the old members of the Senate are scandalized by the forwardness of Butler, but they can only grumble in private; the cards have been dealt, and there is nothing for them but submission.

The indicated selection of Curtis for titular leader, about which nobody longer cherishes any doubt, puts the nose of Wadsworth of New York out of joint, and also relegates Watson of Indiana to the ranks. Wadsworth wanted the leadership for the sake of his campaign two years from now, when he anticipates that Gov. Al Smith will try to take his Senatorship from him.

STRIKE VOTE TAKEN ON S. P. ROAD REFUSES TO NEGOTIATE DEMAND FOR 8 PER CENT INCREASE.
By the Associated Press.
OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 25.—Engineers, firemen and hostlers of the Southern Pacific railroad are taking a strike vote, the result of which will be known in a day or two. Officers of the brotherhoods said today. The number of men affected was placed at 6500, working on lines from Ogden, Utah, to the Pacific Coast and from El Paso, Tex., westward.

The vote was reported to have followed the refusal of the company to negotiate directly a demand for an 8 per cent increase in pay which had been submitted to the Railroad Labor Board. The board has the matter under advisement but, according to the union men, has held that there is nothing to prevent direct negotiations. The brotherhoods take the position that the board is without jurisdiction in this particular case.

Old-Time Cough Remedy—Pine Tar and Honey—Still Best
According to specialists, there is really nothing better or quicker-selling for colds, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and throat irritation than good old pine tar and honey. No matter whether the cough is dry and tight, or loose with much mucus, the pine tar quickly aids in the removal of the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also relieving soreness, while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste.

The original compound, which has been used in thousands of families for many years, is Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It has many imitators, but still remains the best as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. It contains absolutely no narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young and old alike. You want the best, but you get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and no other. Only 50c at any good drugstore.

Don't Let High Blood Pressure Shorten Your Life

How to Stop it—Read This.

It may surprise you to know high blood pressure is so serious that insurance companies refuse to issue policies to those who have it. All because it shortens life. High blood pressure gives little warning, and until certain symptoms take hold you do not know it. They are head pains, flushed face, hot flashes, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sleeplessness and nervousness.

Only a purely vegetable medicine like Norma that drives out the waste matter which clogs the system and forces the heart to do extra work can reduce high blood pressure. Often one bottle of Norma will bring reduction enough to stop the symptoms which distress and worry you.

Norma is a physician's prescription. It worked so wonderfully in his personal practice that it has now been placed in drug stores so that people everywhere can obtain it. Check the uncertainty of high blood pressure by reducing it with Norma.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

St. Louis Lawyer Creates Stir at Mail Fraud Trial by Admitting Proof of Conspiracy.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 25.—The taking of evidence in the mail fraud case here against officials of the defunct Hawkins Mortgage Co. and others, that has dragged for days with monotonous repetition of accusations and denial, has given way to a variety of legal oratory.

There are 18 lawyers to be heard for the Government and 16 for the defense from Texas, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, yawned and sometimes dozed, and, like all juries, which has been at a loss what to do with its legs most of the time, now becomes the victim.

By nightfall these 12 "good men and true" will be deliberating on the fate of these 16 upstanding citizens, not one of whom, according to their lawyers, but would have shrunk from the mere suggestion of evil, and for whom moist-eyed wives with aching hearts and clinging children are longing in that little cottage called home.

The Thanksgiving Appeal. Thursday being Thanksgiving day the jury will be reminded in a peroration that when they sit down in the bosom of their happy families to give thanks for all the blessings with which mankind has been enriched, let them not do so with hearts laden with remembrance that they have chuckled their fellow man behind the bars.

These arguments, which were begun at 7:30 o'clock last night, were resumed at the opening of today's session by Luther Day of Cleveland, for Harry J. Bovard and J. A. Clark, trustees and bookkeeper, respectively, of the Co-operative League of Pittsburg, which went down with the Hawkins crash, causing a loss of several hundred thousand dollars to small investors.

Closing Argument Heard. Arguments for the other defendants were completed at noon, and District Attorney Elliott made the closing argument for the Government, starting at 2 p. m. The jury will have the case about 5:30 p. m.

The trend of all the arguments was that the respective defendants were not in the alleged conspiracy that the arch-conspirator, Morton S. Hawkins, is strangely absent, a fugitive from justice. In pleading for their respective clients the lawyers held up George L. Coffinberry, former bookkeeper, accountant and office manager of the Hawkins company, who was the chief witness for the Government, and who testified that officials of the company knew it was in a failing condition when the mails were so freely used to boost stock sales, as the only man aside from Hawkins, who knew the true condition of the company and who did not inform their clients of its true condition.

William Sacks of St. Louis sat unmoved with his counsel throughout the arguments. He said he is confident the outcome will fully vindicate him.

Last night's session was closed with a thundering plea by Patrick H. Cullen for William Sacks, St. Louis politician and former banker, jointly charged with the others for part in the conspiracy through the Hawkins company that robbed more than 6000 small investors of millions of dollars, in many instances entire life-savings.

Sacks' Connection With Case. Sacks and William M. Webb, former Baptist minister of Texas, were trustees in the United Home Builders of St. Louis and sold control of that organization to Hawkins, under an agreement by which they were to be paid out of the liquidation.

On advice of counsel Sacks did not take the witness stand, it being contended by them that there was no evidence to connect him with any conspiracy.

A. R. Sax of New York, a former stock salesman of the Hawkins company, likewise did not appear in his own defense because of the remoteness of his connection. And it might have been just as well for some of the others if they had not done so, for the Government appeared to strengthen its case in most instances where District Attorney Elliott got hold of one of them under cross-examination.

Three lawyers, representing as many defendants, were heard before Cullen, and they vehemently declared that there had been no conspiracy; that the Government had failed utterly to prove a conspiracy.

Nature of Cullen's Plea. Cullen's time then came. It was apparent the jury had been surfeited with denials. The evidence, particularly against the principals, had been voluminous and convincing. It was time for someone to jerk that jury out of its lethargy. Cullen did it.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he thundered, "don't be deceived. There has been a conspiracy. You know it. You have heard the evidence. And if I possessed the eloquence and the power to employ fiery tongues from the sulphurous depths I would go about the land lashing the guilty ones."

This unexpected turn in events had the desired effect. Here was an affirmation from a defendant counsel of all that the Government had laboriously sought to prove. Cullen at once had the jury's divided attention, as well as that of the other lawyers.

"But there has been no evidence against my client," he continued. "He, like many of the poor victims who have appeared before you, was likewise fleeced."

SACKS ROBBED BY HAWKINS, PLEA OF HIS ATTORNEY

ated by Morton S. Hawkins.

"Yes, there was a conspiracy, and the conspirators, flying the flag of the proud State of Indiana, bearing recommendations from United States Senators from Indiana, from the great banking institutions of Indiana, from certified public accountants of the great State, came to Missouri, seized upon one of our good citizens and robbed him, and now, gentlemen, would you add to that terrible crime by sending this victim to the penitentiary? Is it not enough to be robbed?"

As Cullen paused a hush fell over the court room. He had only 15 minutes to present his case, yet he spoke with measured deliberation as though he had hours to argue it.
Rising to his full height, he suddenly turned from the jury and shot an accusing finger out at an accountant of the United States Department of Justice.

"Fie on you," he cried, "fie on you! You, the nestor of accountants. Come to this Court and not tell this jury that the United Home Builders was solvent and that William Sacks did not sell a languishing property. Fie on you, I say."

"Fie" on District Attorney
Elliot, thundering the declaration that a man, as Sacks has been charged with doing, would not sell to a known thief by taking the thief's note for four years and let the thief run off with a million dollars.

"Do you think a man who would do that is in a conspiracy?" Cullen demanded of Elliot, and, turning to the jury, answered the question himself: "No, he would not.
William Sacks was robbed of the $100,000 he paid for his interest in the United Home Builders, together with his right, title and interest, a thing of value."

"There is no testimony showing that William Sacks planned or executed any scheme to defraud. No testimony, I repeat, and I say it to the District Attorney. No testimony of knowledge than an unborn babe might have."

He solemnly warned the jury that liberty comes, not from the law but from God, and that no court, no law, no power on earth can deprive a man of that liberty without evidence that he has violated a law.

Cites Testimony of Powers.

"And," he proclaimed, "William Sacks violated no law. I tell this to the District Attorney. This proof came out of the mouth of the chief witness against my client, James E. Powers, St. Louis agent of Hawkins, who negotiated the deal for the Home Builders."

"You will recall that Powers testified William Sacks did not know the Hawkins company was insolvent when that deal was made.
That was the truth. Punish the conspirators, gentlemen. William Sacks was one of their victims."

The arguments were begun by Ralph K. Lowder, 25 years old, of Martinsville, Ind., who is assisting the District Attorney in this case. It was the young attorney's first appearance before a jury in Federal Court. He spoke for an hour and a half, devoting himself chiefly to a review of the operations of the Hawkins company since its founding, in 1918, at Portland, Ind.

Argument Against Sacks.

Coming to the United Home Builders transaction, he said: "William Sacks and William M. Webb were trustees, and as such sold out at the first chance, carefully providing for themselves and leaving the contractholders who trusted them to take a loss. That is why Sacks and Webb are here."

Webb was a minister. He converted his flock to the idea of investing in United Home Builders units. He converted the United Home Builders into a Hawkins concern. He tried to convert these same investors to a scheme for exchanging their valuable contracts for Hawkins stock, and now, gentlemen of the jury, he would convert you into believing he is innocent.

"As for Sacks, well, as a trustee, one entrusted with another's money, he violated that trust by selling his $14,500 of capital stock for $150,000 to an insolvent company operated by conspirators. No wonder he is a millionaire."

Another St. Louis Lawyer Heard.
A. R. Russell of Frumberg and Russell, St. Louis, made a forceful plea for Anthony A. Scheib, vice president and secretary of the Hawkins company, arguing that Scheib was uneducated, unfit to be a corporate official and at all times the victim of the scheming Hawkins. He declared that Scheib had gained nothing and had been no part of a conspiracy.

Similar arguments were made for Webb, by A. R. Merritt of Dallas, former United States District Attorney of Texas, and by Charles W.
Jewett, former Mayor of Indianapolis, for Carl P. Anderson, vice president and treasurer of the Hawkins company.

Each side has been allotted four hours for argument. The 16 defendants are disposing of their time in divisions of 15 to 30 minutes.
The Government has two and a half hours left, which District Attorney
Elliot will dispose of in closing.

Eliah Williams, 55 years old, a negro, of 2327 Atlantic street, was shot and slightly wounded in the he wrestled with another negro

the Atlantic street Terminal Railroad yards.

Williams had $200 on his person at the time, which he used to cash

tion and escaped.

ELGIN TAKES THE TIME FROM THE STARS AND PUTS IT IN YOUR POCKET

Look up to the Stars
if you would see the source of Elgin time

THE Italian Galileo produced the first high power astronomical telescope 325 years ago—and the study of the stars entered its modern scientific phase.

Today, as you look at your Elgin watch, you receive the practical benefit of Galileo's genius—and of the patient work of the astronomers who came after him and contributed to man's knowledge of the stars.

For Elgin calls upon astronomy for the precise time-standards which govern the making of the professional time-keeper. Elgin takes the time from the stars—which astronomy has shown to be the final and absolute measure of time.

The Elgin Time Observatory was established for the sole purpose of making star observations and recording exact time. It was put in charge of astronomers of national prominence.

And every step in making and timing an Elgin watch is governed by the standards of time—and the ideals of accuracy—which they bring down from the stars.

The Elgin viewpoint is the professional viewpoint.

Year by year, its influence is reaching out—and year by year, men and women are buying better and better watches.

Your jeweler will show you Elgin Watches in a wide variety and his advice as to the selection of your Elgin will be valuable.

The new Elgin "B. W. Raymond" Railroad Watch is supplied with two types of balance wheel—the Elgin reg-

AUTHORITIES MAY EXHUME BODY OF MRS. SHEATSLEY

Undertaker Tells Prosecutor
That Portion of Skull of Pastor's Wife Was Broken.

STAINED OVERCOAT
FOUND BY POLICE

Side and Sleeves Scorched;
Was Taken to Cleaning
Concern by Man Day
After Tragedy.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—Possibility that the body of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley may be exhumed was indicated here today following a conference late last night between county authorities and Edwin Abbott, an undertaker, who removed Mrs. Sheatsley's remains from the furnace.

Abbott told County Prosecutor John R. King that a portion of Mrs. Sheatsley's skull was broken. He indicated, however, that this might have been caused by the intense heat of the furnace.

An overcoat recovered by the police at a dry cleaning company here, and which was said to be stained with what appeared to be blood, was turned over to chemists for analysis today. A side and sleeve of the coat had been scorched, according to the police.

Officials of the dry cleaning concern said the coat had been left by a middle-aged man the morning after the tragedy, who ordered it cleaned. He never returned for it, they said, and they turned it over to the police.

Mrs. Sheatsley appeared to be in a normal frame of mind last Monday noon, King was told at Lithopolis, a village south of here, today by Mrs. Gladys Redelphs, wife of the Rev. Harry Redelphs, of the village. Mrs. Redelphs visited the Sheatsleys home last Monday and was one of the few persons who last saw the minister's wife alive.

Mrs. Redelphs said she delivered Christmas cards to Mrs. Sheatsley. She arrived at the Sheatsley home about noon, and that she was admitted at the door by Alice, the 12-year-old daughter. Clarence, 16-year-old son, and the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley were examining the morning mail. Mrs. Sheatsley was in the kitchen preparing lunch.

Mrs. Redelphs said she left after having declined an invitation to remain for the meal.

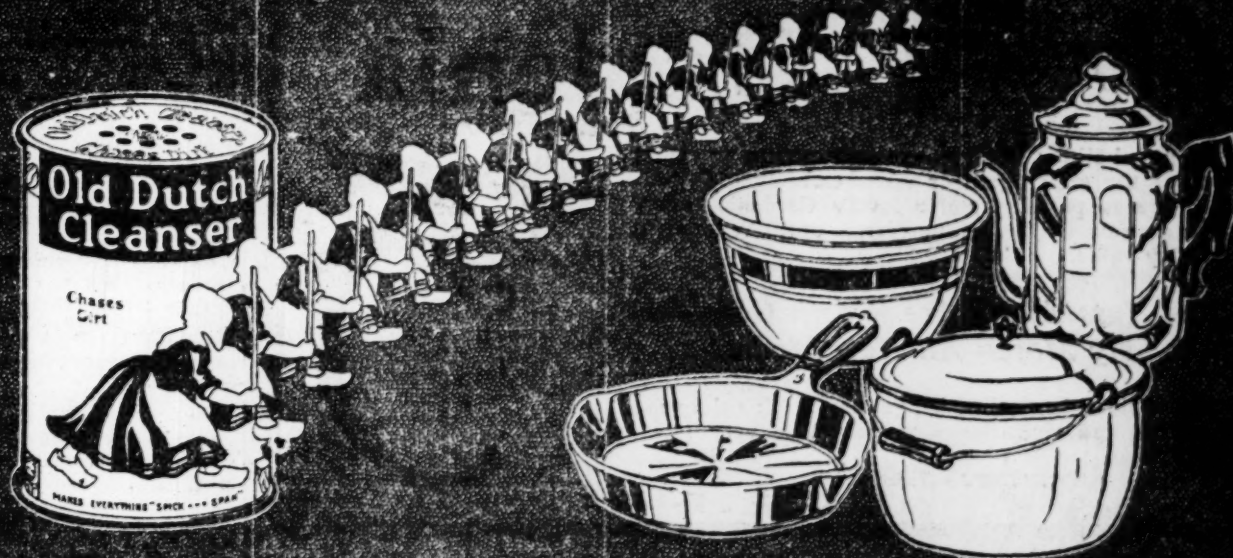

King found a Lithopolis that the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley, with President Otto Mees of Capital University here, and other men, were hunting in that section the Saturday preceding the finding of Mrs. Sheatsley's body in the furnace and that they obtained several rabbits.

The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley, in a statement at Canton today, said that, redish stains which were found by King and his investigators in various places in the Sheatsley home yesterday, were made by him while dressing rabbits which he had obtained on the Saturday excursion.

Hygienically clean, sanitary cooking utensils are of utmost importance in preparing wholesome food. Old Dutch makes them so and safeguards utensils with healthful cleanliness. Removing visible grease, burnt in stains and invisible impurities as well.

Old Dutch efficiency is due to distinctive quality and character. To the eye a fine powder—under the microscope its particles are flaky and flat shaped. They make complete contact with the surface, erasing all impurities. This extraordinary natural detergent makes Old Dutch Cleanser unequalled for economy, ease and quickness and above all assures you healthful cleanliness. Goes further, lasts longer.

There is nothing else like Old Dutch.

Should Men Play
as hard as they work?

Before one reaches voting age, he hails as a prophet the fellow who said "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Perhaps youth gets its envied vitality from abundant play—

Laugh with the throng—follow the "hard hitting executive," watch him play—see him recreate energy for business.

Certainly the strenuous business man needs more balanced recreation than the lighthearted youngster. And the confining months of winter grind more tellingly on the constitution than the outdoor days of summer.

Your choice of sports: golf, tennis, fishing, hunting, riding, boating, bathing. Splendid hotels at rates comparable to your favored summer resort—through the winter men may bring their families to this glorious clime and "commute" so to speak on the luxurious Panama Limited.

Here Today—Play Tomorrow
This winter a summer playground can be reached without the loss of a day. At noon, say good-bye to sputtering radiators, frosted windows and chilly feet. Next noon drink the exhilarating ozone and beaming sunshine of the beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Plan now to enjoy this winter on the beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast. We will help you.

CITY INTERVENES IN PROPOSED PHONE RATE INCREASE

Action of City Counsellor Likely to Delay Decision in the Case for an Indefinite Period.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 25.—Postponement for an indefinite period of any decision by the State Public Service Commission on a proposed $800,000 annual increase in St. Louis business telephone rates sought by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was forecast when City Counsellor Senti of St. Louis filed an intervening petition late yesterday afternoon, requesting the commission to determine the actual value of the company's St. Louis property before making any order affecting the rates.

Commission engineers yesterday estimated such a valuation proceeding would require probably a year. Possible appeal to the courts from the valuation fixed by the commission would mean additional delay.

The intervening petition was filed by Counsellor Senti and Associate City Counsellor Forrest Farris at the close of an informal conference of attorneys for the city and Southwestern Bell, held here at the invitation of the commission to set a time for hearings on the rate application. However, no agreement on time was reached, except to start the hearings as soon as possible.

The commission will announce later the date for the first hearing.

City's Specific Requests.

The city's petition contains two specific requests:

That the commission make a complete valuation and audit of the fair present value, earnings and expenses of the entire St. Louis exchange property of the company, the valuation thus determined by the commission to form the basis for future rate making and return on investment to be allowed the company.

That in the audit the commission give particular attention to separation of toll revenues from St. Louis exchange revenues and to the accounting used in determining the depreciation in plant claims by the company.

Following the informal conference members of the commission would not comment on the city's request for a valuation proceeding, but stated no orders affecting rates would be issued without a thorough investigation into plant valuation, revenues and operating expenses.

Early Rate Hearings Likely.

Hearings on the application for increased rates probably will be started before the end of the year, but doubt was expressed that a valuation of the company property could be started by commission engineers until after the next Legislature makes appropriations for the commission, as its appropriation for valuation work is running low. The Legislature convenes in January.

FAILS TO SETTLE STATUS OF DIVORCE INVESTIGATORS

Supreme Court Opinion on Case Here Leaves Matter as It Was Before.

An attack on the system of employing investigators in divorce cases, in the St. Louis Circuit Court, brought a decision from the State Supreme Court today, but the decision did not decide the question whether the investigators are lawfully employed or not.

Supreme Court dismissed a mandamus proceeding filed by Douglas W. Robert, to compel Circuit W. Ossing to proceed with the hearing of the divorce suit of Robert Bracey against Nattie Bracey, without reference to an investigator's report in the case. The reason the proceedings was dismissed, the Supreme Court said, was that Judge Ossing had signified that he was ready to proceed anyway. The court said it would not issue a writ to compel an act which would be performed without the compulsion. The court did not indicate what it would have done if Judge Ossing had been unwilling to proceed.

ARREST OF KORETZ DUE TO SUSPICION OF BANK CLERK

He Noticed That Accounts of "Lou Keyte" Were Large and Informed Client in Chicago.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The capture of Leo Koretz, swindler, who was arrested in Halifax Sunday night, was due to detective work on the part of Abe L. Davis, vice president of the Chicago Title & Trust Co., which in turn was prompted by the suspicions of a clerk in the Bank of Montreal branch at Halifax.

The bank clerk noticed that the accounts of "Lou Keyte" were unusually large, though "Keyte" had no visible source of income. The clerk thought it strange that an extremely wealthy man should have no earnings whatsoever, and communicated his suspicions to a Chicago client, who in turn, through his attorney, informed Davis. Davis, as trustee for the Koretz estate, then turned detective and definitely established by an exchange of photographs and handwriting specimens that "Lou Keyte" was Leo Koretz.

Small Signs Extradition. The trustee had the Illinois authorities make the arrest as Koretz could not be extradited for the Federal offense of using the mails to defraud, but could be returned to this country on the State charge of embezzlement.

Gov. Small had signed an extradition warrant before the arrest was made. Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Marshall going to Springfield unannounced for the purpose. From there Marshall went to Washington and got a Federal warrant.

Federal and State attorneys claim first right to prosecute Koretz, who is due to leave Halifax for Chicago late today.

Civil Proceedings Started. Proceedings have been instituted by Davis to establish claim to the property in Nova Scotia, held under the name of Lou Keyte. Chester Davis, son of the trust officer, left here last night for Halifax, after a meeting of creditors. With him was Adrian Howe, attorney representing several creditors. They will take steps in Nova Scotia to conserve the tangible assets of Koretz. They departed with a list of assets that had been telegraphed by Assistant State's Attorney Sbarbaro to State's Attorney Crowe. This list showed that Koretz had a 100-acre estate valued at $34,048 in Nova Scotia; deposits of $48,000 in the Eastern National Bank in New York City; stocks and bonds amounting to $69,000 deposited in the Bank of Nova Scotia; deposits of $2000 in a branch of the same bank in Liverpool, England. He was also listed as the owner of a book store at 222 Madison avenue, New York, the manager of which is Temple Scott. All these assets appeared under the name of Lou Keyte.

Plans of Prosecutor. State authorities plan to put Koretz on trial at once on the State charge of operating a confidence game and embezzlement. The penalty for conviction is 10 years' imprisonment. Then they plan to turn Koretz over to the Federal authorities to face trial on an indictment for using the mails to defraud. Conviction in this case will mean a fine of $1000, a five-year prison sentence, or both. The State, however, will retain the right to try him on other charges after he leaves prison and before turning him over to Federal authorities.

News of her son's arrest was withheld from Mrs. Marie Koretz, one of the victims of his scheme. She suffered a breakdown at the time of the disappearance of her son and has since been under a physician's care.

Koretz Admits Mail Frauds That Net Him $2,000,000. By the Associated Press. HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 25.—Leo Koretz has confessed, according to police, to perpetration of mail frauds which netted him approximately $2,000,000 and for which he was indicted in Chicago a year ago.

Koretz revealed that when he was arrested he was preparing to leave for South America. He said he had come to Nova Scotia in order to obtain passports.

According to his statement, Koretz has spent virtually all the money he is alleged to have taken with him in a satchel when he disappeared from Chicago. He has spent thousands of dollars in renovating a country home he bought near here, entertained lavishly, and made a hobby of collecting rare books, furniture and curios.

RELATION OF BUS LINES TO TRANSIT SYSTEM DISCUSSED

Speakers at Midwest Electric Railway Association Meeting Say Carriers Should Be Absorbed.

'MUST BE RECOGNIZED AS PROVED METHOD'

Mayor Kiel, Director Kinsey and City Consulting Engineer Smith Among Speakers.

The motor bus will never supplant the street car but it must be recognized as a worthy and proved method of urban transportation and must be absorbed into the city transportation systems.

This conclusion was voiced by several speakers at yesterday's session of the Midwest Electric Railway Association, consisting of about 100 representatives of urban and interurban electric lines in six states, at Hotel Jefferson. The discussions were marked by the presence and participation of Mayor Kiel, President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, City Consulting Engineer C. E. Smith and Chairman Wimer of the Aldermanic Transit Committee. Much of the discussion had to do with St. Louis traffic problems.

"We are here to cuss and discuss buses," asserted F. G. Buffe, general manager, Kansas City Railway, in responding to addresses of welcome by Mayor Kiel and former Mayor Rolla Wells, receiver for the United Railways.

Must Find Place for Bus.

"The bus is here and we must adopt it and find a place for it in our system of transportation," declared E. Hilburn, general manager of the Tulsa Street Railway Co., speaking on "Co-ordination of Bus and Street Car Service." He related that Tulsa was a pioneer in adopting bus service. In 1914, when the "jitney" service was making inroads into the company's revenue, legal redress was sought ineffectually. The company then adopted a 16-foot bus and went into competition with the "jitneys." This proved unprofitable until the buses were put into supplemental service as feeders. They are now used profitably, he said, in both supplemental and direct service.

"It is necessary to find where the bus may be used most expeditiously," he declared. "It will never supplant the street car. It must be rated a public carrier and taxed as such. Proper regulation will determine its proper field. I would not venture to predict its future. The motor-bus industry is young and undeveloped and may be materially changed within the next six months."

"The bus is here to stay, and the man who tells you differently hasn't read the signs of the times," declared President Kinsey. "People demand a more flexible system of transportation, more nearly a door-to-door service."

"There is a danger that where new sections are laid out a permanent traction service is held out to the purchaser of a home. A utility company should be prepared to serve a community's needs, and here the bus supplies extension needs. Therefore, it is apparent both services should be under a unified control."

Unified System of Lines Urged.
Speaking on the topic, "City Transportation and Traffic Problems," City Consulting Engineer Smith enumerated suggestions as to how both city and street car company might co-operate to bring about better service. He urged a unified system of all transit lines: single fare and free transfers within a single fare zone; expansion of facilities in amount and character best suited to the service; thorough routing to avoid traffic congestion; speeding up of service where possible—shortening schedule time in off-peak hours and loading platforms at busy intersections, for safety and convenience of car riders.

"Motormen should be instructed and made to stop for passengers at the curb," he declared, "who would not take the chance or could not get by intervening automobiles. The thought that the cars will not stop unless passengers stand near the track impels many people to take chances crossing ahead of speeding autos, and increases accidents."

Street car companies may help the situation, he asserted, by providing storage yards near the congested district to store peak-hour cars and relieve traffic by not having to send them back and forth as empties, reducing looping of cars in the congested districts and operating through runs as far as possible, and avoid crossing of busy lines in the congested district.

Kiel Among Speakers.
"For instance," he pointed out, "in St. Louis three of the heaviest lines in the city cross at Broadway and Locust street. That could be entirely avoided by rerouting Broadway cars one block east and the other two one block west. The Olive lines cross the Broadway and Hodiamont lines. The latter crosses Olive and Broadway lines. I hope the visitors will go to Broadway and Locust at 5:15 tonight to see the results."

Mayor Kiel related that he had nearly "lost his job" over a United Railroads franchise measure and

The Problem of Naming an Executor

It is usually a problem to know whom to name as executor of one's estate.

If you name an individual, there is the possibility that he may not be able to serve; that he may prove incompetent; that he may be away when important matters need attention; that he may die before your estate is finally distributed.

If you name the St. Louis Union Trust Company, there will be no chance of your executor being unable to serve; taking a vacation; or "being away ill." It is the business of this company to manage estates. Your estate in our care will receive experienced management without inconvenience or loss to your heirs.

Our officers will be glad to help you with any of your estate problems, and to explain how this company can serve you.

COMPERS AGAIN HEADS LABOR FEDERATION

Took Office in 1882 and Has Missed Only One Year Since.

The Associated Press, Nov. 22.—Saml. Gompers, leader of the American Federation of Labor since its organization in 1881, today was unanimously re-elected to the presidency for the coming year. There were no other nominations. All officers, eight vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer, also were unanimously re-elected.

Atlantic City, N. J., was unanimously selected for the 1935 convention.

Gompers was one of the organizers of the American Federation of Labor in 1881 and was elected its first president, but resigned the office then. He was persuaded to accept the presidency in 1883 and has been re-elected annually since, with the exception of a single year—1895—when John P. Mitchell won the presidency, defeating Gompers by a close vote. Gompers will be 75 years old in January.

JAPAN MAY NAME BUSINESS MAN AS ENVOY TO U. S.

Who Having Difficulty in Finding Successor to Hattori, Who May Return.

TOKIO, Nov. 10.—Possibility that one of Japan's business leaders will be appointed Ambassador to Washington, instead of a member of the permanent Foreign Office service, is given much prominence in the Japanese press. Such an appointment, to fill the post last held by Masanao Hanthara, would break all precedent.

It is believed to be under consideration because of the difficulty of finding a man in the regular establishment fitted for the post, and of whom the highest officials can agree.

Dr. Takuma Dan, active head of the Great Mitsu interests, and Densoke Inoue, former Governor of the Bank of Japan, and more recently Finance Minister in the last Yamamoto Cabinet, are most frequently mentioned.

It is known that the appointment was offered to Baron Keijiro Matsui, Foreign Minister under Kiyoura, but was declined. There is still a possibility, according to well-informed circles, that Hanthara will return to Washington as Ambassador.

Proposed recall and urged that traction companies should be permitted to earn sufficient revenue to pay the service the people demand. "Our first aim is to guard and reserve the interests of the people of St. Louis," asserted Receiver Wells, after relating that his father built the first street car line west of the Mississippi, which ran from the foot of Olive street to Seventeenth street. "We have been forced to pay capital expenditures, which has handicapped us in endeavoring to keep up with the growing St. Louis."

100 Delegates Attend.

"I have urged reorganization continuously, and I believe it almost has been accomplished. And with the splendid organization around me, I will be able to turn over a property, under a management, that will meet the approval of the people. The public is responsible for these utilities and their operation. The public, in a sense, is the proprietor. They have their control through the Public Service Commission, where they may exercise their powers of ownership."

Alderman Wimer told the visitors of the suggested $100,000,000 highway-elevated-surface traction system for St. Louis. He directed to remark the loading platforms on Delmar boulevard, removal of which has been sought, would not succeed.

About 100 delegates are in attendance. The meeting will close today with a visit to plants of several St. Louis industries.

SPANISH DIRECTORATE IS MORE CORRUPT OLD PARTY, SAYS

Spanish Writer Continues His Attack on Men He Declares Oppress the People and Impoverish Nation.

BY V. BLASCO IBANEZ
PRIMO DE RIVERA'S first act as dictator was to get out a manifesto urging his subjects to act as informants against one another, promising as a reward that they would not be punished for complicity. It was apparently his ambition to bring Spain back to the days of autodes, and accusations without proof. The role of grand inquisitor he reserved for himself. Anyone might send him any sort of accusation against anyone else without risk. To the honor of Spain, he it said, small response was made to this information invitation. But as he had carried out his revolution by means of the slogan, "Down with the political grafters!" he felt it incumbent upon him to prove that his antecedents in office had been guilty of wholesale stealing. Up to the present, however—a period of 13 months of complete autocracy—has not been able to adduce any evidence upholding what he set out, with such a fine flourish of trumpets, to prove.

One of the chief victims of the military directorate's persecutions is Alba, liberal member of the King's Cabinet at the time the constitutional Government was abolished, who has become the bete noir of Primo de Rivera and his satellites. The reasons for this hatred are not far to seek. While serving in the Cabinet, Alba tried to put a tax on the profits of the concerns supplying the army. He issued a decree to the effect that instruction in the Catholic faith was no longer obligatory in the Spanish schools, and unprecedented intolerance in Spain—forced the religious orders to pay taxes, thus putting them on a par with civil institutions. Far less than that was needed to make him thoroughly abhorred to the supporters of the Right, who were also the supporters of the directorate. In their estimation Alba was a demagogue deserving of every form of attack and calumny.

As to the King, he had his own reasons for detesting Alba. This particular Minister was the only one who dared oppose Alfonso when the latter determined to thrust himself from the trammels of the constitution. In addition, Alba had the effrontery to carry out the dissolving of the Spanish prisoners of the Rif on his own initiative, an operation which the Generals would never have served as his general order, and perhaps goodly. And, final affront to the military power, just before the coup d'etat was accomplished, Alba caused certain Generals to be dismissed from office for incompetence or insubordination.

In their hour of triumph, the henchmen of the directorate plotted Alba's assassination. Alfonso was not unaware of this plot, yet he gave his Minister, who was with him at Saint Sebastian, no warning of his danger. Fortunately Alba made good his escape and took refuge in France. Had he lingered in Spain he would have lost his honor as well as his life at the hands of his enemies. For Primo de Rivera's unquenchable accusations of theft would have served as his general order, and perhaps goodly. And, final affront to the military power, just before the coup d'etat was accomplished, Alba caused certain Generals to be dismissed from office for incompetence or insubordination.

Virtue Is Rewarded.
 Next to him are in the office of the governor, the attorney general and the treasurer this confidence to the audience: "His excellency seems disappointed of late. He has surprised me recently by speaking of his childhood days and of his dear old mother."
 Needless to say, the governor pardons Tom when the tramp produces the belated evidence. Tom's life goes to the penitentiary to follow over him in his prison stripes, and in the end he holds his release. In the last act, Tom's friends join with the little girl, and show Tom's life by mistake when the blacksmith intervenes by way of a window. The villain is led away as the curtain falls. AMERICANS AFTER RUSSIAN CROWN GEMS

New York Diamond Merchants in Amsterdam Report Demand for Precious Stones.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1936.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 25.—Many New York diamond merchants have reappeared recently in the Amsterdam diamond market. They declare that now the presidential election in the United States and the dramatic changes in the financial and economic conditions has disappeared, there is a great demand for precious stones.

The object of the merchants' visit is to try to purchase a portion of the large collection of former Russian crown jewels, valued at 14,000,000 guilders (about $5,621,000). The appearance of the Soviet diamonds on the market caused some slight consternation in the diamond trade for fear of a possible effect on prices.

In normal circumstances the annual supply of diamonds on the Amsterdam market amounts to 150,000,000 guilders, 20,000,000 of which are to be used for industrial purposes and not as jewels.

Transactions, however, have been financed by the Bank of Amsterdam, and there is no fear of an unfavorable influence on the normal market prices.

About half of the Soviet collection already has been sold, the greater part of it to Antwerp dealers. Since the decline of the Belgian franc to 10 or 12 Dutch cents, nearly all dealings on the Antwerp market have been transacted in dollars or guilders.

As auctioneers are generally re-discounted in Holland, the curious fact emerges that the Antwerp diamond industry—Amsterdam's greatest competitor—is indirectly financed with Dutch capital. Where the redoubtable cannot take place in sufficient measure, as seems to be the case now, the Antwerp dealers and commissioners overflow the Amsterdam market in order to do business on a cash basis—and thus are enabled to meet their liabilities.

Claims Against Germany Awarded. By the Associated Press.

The demands of 167 other claimants were dismissed. The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey received $25,000 on one claim and $30,000 on another; Federal Crocoating Co. of Louisville, $94,530; R. G. Dunn & Co. of New York City, $2,500; Mac Guffield, New York City, $50,000; Franz B. Giffelder, New York City, $37,000; Joseph Giffelder, New York City, $27,550, and Frederick H. Wilkins, New York City, $60,000.

SAYS DIRECTORATE IS MORE CORRUPT THAN PARTY EXPELLED

Continued. The Marquis of Coruna was also deported to the Canaries for an article he wrote on financial matters in which he pointed out some of the directorate's mistakes in economic matters. But Primo de Rivera has some sense of the scenic effects it is desirable to produce in order to draw a burst of applause from the crowd, and he realizes that deliberately playing the role of a brusque, brutal conqueror is not sufficient to maintain his power, he has, therefore, attempted to establish an association of civilians, called the Union Patriótica, with the intention of appearing to hand over the power to his accomplices, disguised as civilians, meanwhile he continues to rule from behind the scenes.

Primo de Rivera is one of those men who can do anything and everything except attend to their jobs. It is his function as a soldier to make war successfully. Moreover one of his pretenses for abolishing the Constitution was the claim that he could thus carry on the war more successfully. Yet, after the coup d'état the war in Africa languished, forgotten, for ten months, until the Moroccans surprised our troops in circumstances even more disastrous to us than the catastrophe of 1921.

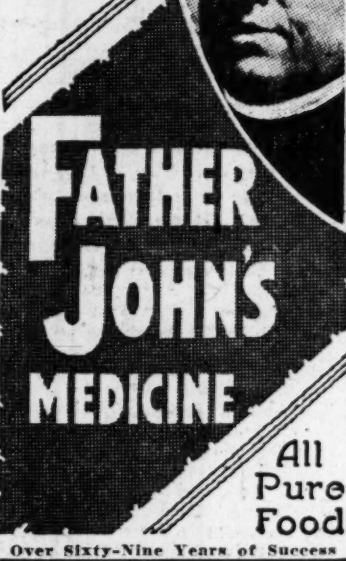

Miguelito has aided Mussolini in many of his gestures, but his imitation of Italy's dictator fails of being anything but a sorry burlesque. Mussolini made his way up from the masses, had a party behind him, and derives his strength from the masses he sprang from. But Primo de Rivera's claim to power has nothing more valid behind it than the fact that he is the uncle's nephew. Moreover he started with what in Mussolini's case was but a link in an already long chain of events—a coup d'état, and it was only after he had seized the power that Primo de Rivera tried to build up a party for himself by way of justification.

MRS. HARDING'S BODY AT REST AT HUSBAND'S SIDE

Friends, Heads Bare in Flurry of Snowflakes, Pay Last Tribute to Wife of Late President.

"END OF A PERFECT DAY" IS SUNG

Bugles Sound Taps at Cemetery After Church Service in Which Her Faith Is Extolled.

By the Associated Press.
MARION, O., Nov. 24.—Florence
King Harding was laid to eternal rest in Marion Cemetery yesterday beside the mortal remains of her husband whom she had helped to raise from country editor to the presidency of the United States.
Grouped around the gray vault with heads bared to the chill wind that carried a flurry of snowflakes, hundreds paid a last tribute to the widow of Warren G. Harding, twenty-ninth chief executive of the nation. Inside the small vault, the few relatives and friends who were with her in the last days of her life listened to the brief services.

When the casket, a veritable mass of flowers, was carried into the narrow room, the Rev. Jesse Swank, pastor of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church, said the regular burial service of his church. The Rev. George M. Landes, who had been President Harding's pastor, pronounced the benediction, and hardly had his words ceased when softly on the air swelled the refrain of "The End of a Perfect Day," from two score male throats. The Carrie Jacobs Bond song rose in volume, then died in last soft tones of harmony.
The broken tone of bugles sounding taps rang through the cemetery and as the final notes ended the vault doors were gently closed and the silent crowd turned away.
Services at the Church.

The funeral services at Epworth Church were equally as simple.
There the Rev. Mr. Swank delivered a short sermon and prayer was said by Dr. Landes.
It was Mrs. Harding's wish that "The End of a Perfect Day" be sung at her funeral. The Columbus (O.) Republican Glee Club, numbering more than 40 voices, furnished all the music at the services. The club had sung at virtually every important occasion throughout the political career of Harding, journeying to Washington when he was inaugurated President.

Mrs. Harding's body will lie beside that of her husband in the receiving vault at the cemetery until the proposed Harding Memorial, which will be erected on a high bit of ground outside the city limits, is completed, when the bodies of both will be moved there.

Representing the Government at the services were Hubert Work,
Secretary of the Interior, and John W. Weeks, Secretary of War.
In addition, Edwin Denby, Detroit, former Secretary of the Navy; Capt. Adolphus Andrews, military aid to President Coolidge, and the latter's personal representative at Marion; Maj. J. C. Ballinger, former military aid to Harding; Postmaster-General Harry S. New.
United States Senator Frank B.
Willard and others, were present.

Others Who Were There.
Clifford B. and Tallis Kling, brothers of Mrs. Harding; Jeanne and George De Wolfe, grandchildren; Dr. George T. Harding, the late President's father, and the former's wife; Miss Abigail Harding, sister of the former Chief Executive; Mr. and Mrs. Herber Votaw, the latter a sister of Warren G. Harding; Mrs. Harding's niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Longshore, Dr. Carl
W. Sawyer, at whose sanitarium
Mrs. Harding died, and Mrs. Mary Sawyer, widow of Brigadier-General Charles E. Sawyer, were among those who crowded around the casket in the cemetery receiving vault. George B. Christian Jr., former secretary to President Harding, and friend of the Hardings for years, stood with bowed head outside the vault door as the services were conducted.

At the conclusion of the services the guard of soldiers that has maintained a vigil at the Harding tomb since August, 1923, resumed its place.

Hundreds Pass Bier.
All morning, until the doors were closed at noon, hundreds passed before Mrs. Harding's casket in the Longshore home near Epworth Church. Fully 12,000 persons view the body, it was estimated by Longshore. At 1:30 the flower-bedecked casket was carried to the church, which was crowded to the doors, with many standing, and the

CIVIC COUNCIL ON RAPID TRANSIT IS ORGANIZED

15 Organizations Join Movement to Sponsor Subway System for St. Louis.

The Civic Council on Rapid Transit, a citizen's committee to sponsor the campaign for a subway system in St. Louis, was organized last night by representatives of 15 civic and business organizations at a meeting at the Real Estate Exchange.

Orman J. McCawley, chairman of the Rapid Transit Committee of the Citizens Club which began the subway movement last spring, was elected chairman of the council. Baxter L. Brown of the Chamber of Commerce was named first vice chairman; Col. E. J. Spencer of the Associated Engineering Societies, second vice chairman, and Samuel L. Wimers, chairman of the Aldermanic Rapid Transit Committee, third vice chairman.

The meeting was held at the call of Alderman Wimers. He explained the aldermanic plan for a $109,000,000 bond issue to provide for the "tubing" of all street cars east of Jefferson avenue, the bonds to be paid off over a period of 50 years from current revenue. He explained a recent $25,000 appropriation for an engineer's committee to conduct a survey and report on the feasibility of a subway system.

This report would be forthcoming shortly, he said, and the aldermanic committee, he promised, would take no steps without first getting the approval of the council. The council agreed to meet monthly on some day to be selected near the monthly meeting date of the aldermanic committee, the last Friday of each month. The organizations which joined last night are the Real Estate Exchange, Masters Builders Association, Associated Engineering Societies, Chamber of Commerce, Building Owners and Managers Association, St. Louis Team Owners Association, Rotary Club, Civitan Club, Merchants Exchange, Million Population Club, Greater St. Louis Conference, Optimist Club, Associated Retailers, Motion Picture Exhibitors' League and Ninth St. Louis Business Men's Association. Others will be invited to join.

streets outside were lined with those who could not get in. One whose "profound faith" in the great realities of Christianity carried her through the trials which have born others down was the picture drawn of Mrs. Harding by the Rev. Mr. Swank in the sermon.

"One thing, it seems to me," he said, "has been neglected in all these tributes to Mrs. Harding and that the most necessary and the most precious in her life—her deep conviction of and her profound faith in the great realities of Christianity."

While Mrs. Harding was at the point of death in the White House, Dr. Swank said, the thousands of messages received saying "we are praying for your recovery" "we lifted her up that the conviction came to her that she was not going to die and from that time she fought steadily on with a great faith in divine providence until her recovery became assured."

"It was in this faith she lived; in this faith she did her work, and on this faith she relied and found her sure support when her beloved was taken away from her, and it was in the possession of this faith that she went home to God."

Business Suspended.
The city of Marion suspended all business during the afternoon. Black draped the business houses and flags were at half staff. A flag at half staff whirled in the wind from the famous front porch of the Harding home from whose wide veranda the Hardings said farewell to their home town before going to Washington.

Lining the streets for a considerable distance from the cemetery were hundreds of men, women and children, who stood with bare heads as the funeral cavalcade went by.

The casket was borne by old friends of the Hardings, all but one from Marion. They were: Malcolm Jennings, Columbus, and O. S. Rapp, George H. Van Fleet, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, J. P. Prendergast, E. K. Uhler, Charles D. Schaffner and John A. Schroeder. The honorary pallbearers were Weeks, New, Derby, Christian, Hoke, Depighen, Marion; Capt. Andrews, Maj. Baldwin; D. R. Ciesinger, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board; Louis H. Brush, Salem, O., publisher, and now a part owner of the Marion Star; and Henry A. Taylor, Cleveland Postmaster.

There's a Little Woman Waiting—Expecting

A ROUND your own fireside. The dreams are of a home away from the city's center, away from the soot pall—out where kiddies can romp and run, the air is clear and the grass is green. Maybe the dream is silent, but there's a little woman waiting and expecting much of you.

UNIVERSITY HILLS

Is the end of waiting and expecting. Straight out the city's proven path of value, it is no wonder that of two hundred acres only a few lots are unsold.

Now is the Ideal Time to Build More Paved Highways

There is not a single community in the United States that does not need a greater mileage of permanently paved roads.

16,000,000 motor vehicles are now using our highways for business and pleasure. They are packing the paved roads in already congested areas, as well as over-running regions until recently considered remote. And they are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

Even though a number of states have made good progress in building Concrete Roads, their present permanently improved mileage is entirely inadequate, as every motorist knows.

Meantime, while the building of permanent highways lags, the production of motor vehicles is increasing the present total at the rate of 4,000,000 a year!

Sooner or later this gap must be closed. Why wait?

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building, thus assuring tax payers more for their money.

Now is the ideal time to extend both street and road programs!

9-STORY OFFICE STRUCTURE FOR 13TH AND LOCUST

Roxana Petroleum Corporation Acquires Site on Northeast Corner for $1,000,000 Building.

JEFFERSON HOTEL CHANGES ITS PLANS

Will Build $3,000,000 Addition From Locust to St. Charles, West of Present Building.

Plans have been announced for the improvement, at a cost of $2,000,000 to $4,000,000, of the half block west of the Jefferson Hotel. The plans call for the erection of a nine-story office building at the northeast corner of Thirtieth and Locust streets and of a large addition to the present Jefferson Hotel Building.

The office building is to house the offices of the Roxana Petroleum Corporation. It will be of monumental type to harmonize with the Memorial Plaza buildings that are to be erected out of bond issue funds. There will be provision for adding additional stories if required. The structure alone will cost approximately $1,000,000.

In disposing of the Thirtieth and Locust corner, the Jefferson Hotel Co. purchased the Thirtieth and St. Charles corner. Now, instead of building the addition westward on Locust to Thirtieth, it plans to have it extend from Locust to St. Charles, directly west of the present building, but not touching on Thirtieth street. This will be more economical than the original plans, and will make for greater compactness and utility. The cost will be between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

Work on both structures is scheduled to begin in the near future. The sites for the office building and hotel addition are now occupied by warehouses. When the improvements are completed the Thirtieth and St. Charles corner will be the only section of the block unimproved. This corner is owned by the hotel company and can be used for further hotel space, if desired. In the past this corner has been under consideration several times for theater projects, notably by the Shuberts for the Shubert-Jefferson Theater, which will shortly vacate its quarters in the Union Electric Building.

PARIS WANTS A MAYOR LIKE OTHER BIG CITIES
Members of City Council Sign Resolution for Change; Will Be Referred to Parliament.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Nov. 25.—Paris wants a Mayor like the other cities have, "a real governing city hall symbol of communal autonomy," according to resolutions adopted unanimously today by 75 City Councilors. They added that they were desirous that the capital of France be placed on an equal footing, so far as city government is concerned, with provincial towns.

Paris is the only city in Europe which is unable to boast a Mayor or Burgomaster at the head of the city's affairs. The Prefects of the Seine and police at present divide authority in Paris under nominal control of the Municipal Council. The Council asks that the Metropolitan police be placed under the direct supervision of Mayor, who will be elected by popular vote. The Prefect of Police would become simply a Chief of Police. The Council's resolution will be referred to Parliament.

REDUCING! THE rubber girdles and corsets for reducing, which are being worn so successfully, stimulate excessive body-moisture. That is natural. And it is the only healthy way to reduce.

Excessive perspiration is not absorbed easily. But knitted underwear that is as daintily finished as any of the lighter fabrics, absorbs quickly and comfortably—and will not bind or wrinkle, because of its elastic-fit. It is the natural garment to wear beneath a reducing corset.

GRAFT WITNESS IS 'AFRAID TO GO HOME'

Informant Testifies in Kansas City Trial That His House has Been Stopped.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25.—An attempt was made late yesterday in the trial of former Federal prohibition agent charged with graft to show that Benno Gruenbaum, one of the defendants who failed to appear for trial, had stolen $1500 from the Standard Savings and Loan Association by whom he was employed after he had left the United States marshal's office, where he was a deputy.

The charges brought out in the questioning of Joe Walters, insurance agent and a former deputy marshal, a defense witness, by Fred W. Coon, counsel for the defense.

Coon asked Walters if he knew what Gruenbaum did after he was discharged from the United States Marshal's office.

The witness replied that Gruenbaum went to work for R. Brewster at the Standard Savings and Loan Association. Coon asked the witness if he did not know that the reason for Gruenbaum's failure to appear for trial was that he had stolen $1500 from the loan company.

Walters, in testimony brought out by the defense in attempting to discredit Harry Rosenfelt, Government witness, said Rosenfelt had told him they could make some easy money, a lot of it, if Walters would do what Rosenfelt told him to do.

The witness said he told Rosenfelt he did not need any money and refused the offer.

Rosenfelt's home was raided and liquor was found in the basement, but he never was tried for a dry law violation. It was brought out in last night's session of the trial.

Rosenfelt was used as a "stool pigeon" by the Federal agents, according to his own testimony. A check he had given a cooperative company for 15 barrels in January, 1923, was produced.

Explaining the use to which the barrels were put, Rosenfelt said they were filled with water and acid which he used in lacquering bedsteads.

Rosenfelt's home has been stoned this week and he is afraid to go near it, he testified. He has been followed since the trial started, he said.

John C. Vaughan, St. Louis Federal agent, told of coming here a year ago as a part of flying squadrons headed by Gus O. Nations, and said Arthur L. Curran, then head of the Kansas City group of agents and one of the defendants in the trial, had told them the town was open to them.

Many Character Witnesses.
Dr. Buford M. Colby said he had conferred with Rosenfelt and Harry L. Schwimke, attorney, as to how he might have his liquor permit restored after L. F. De Hart had revoked it, and it had been suggested that Rosenfelt "see" De Hart. They offered to arrange the restoration for $250, the witness said.

At the session yesterday, Elton Apt, one of the former agents on trial, testified over the objection of Government counsel, that he became a prohibition agent by reason of his acquaintance with the late President Warren G. Harding. The Apt and Harding families were neighbors in Marion, O., the witness said, and President Harding's father was the Apt family's physician. The witness said he and President Harding were schoolmates.

Many witnesses testified favorably as to the reputation of the defendants for "truth, honesty and uprightness." William H. Allen, former prohibition director for Missouri, testified that all the six agents had good records and declared they were "exceptionally good agents." Allen resigned as prohibition director in July, 1923, and is now a receiver for a bank in New Castle, Wyo.

'GLORIOUS FIGHT' AHEAD, SENATOR LA FOLLETTE SAYS

Progressive Leader, in Editorial, Calls on His Followers to Prepare for 1926.

"HAVE TWO YEARS TO OVERTHROW ENEMY"

Reactionary - Controlled
Congress Is Progressives' Opportunity, Recent Presidential Candidate
Declares.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 25.—Senator Robert M. La Follette will "carry on" for the campaign of 1926. He declares in an editorial in his magazine off the press here today that the "progressives will close ranks for the next battle."

The editorial is the first statement from the Senator as to his plans to renew the fight for the presidency and refutes a statement, said to have been made by Congressman John M. Nelson, La Follette said, that the progressives would not enter the field of national politics next election.

"The priceless heritage of our free institutions is not to be yielded up because one battle with the enemy of progressive democracy has been lost," Senator La Follette declares. "Our ancestors did not surrender in the face of the hardships and suffering of seven long and discouraging years. The hours of freedom did not despair in the dark hours of the '60s, when human liberty and the Union were at stake."

"Enlisted for Life."

"The progressives will close ranks for the next battle. We are enlisted for life in the struggle to bring Government back to the people. We will not quit and we will not compromise. Five million strong, we are determined to break the power of the private monopoly system. Without money and with little organization we have shaken the mighty in their seats. We have two years in which to rally and consolidate our forces. We must have every detail of organization and be fully prepared to face and overthrow the enemy of free government."

"Our task is great, but our cause is greater. Forward, progressives, for the campaign of 1926!"

"The American people have returned to power the Republican party with its record of corruption and subservience to the dictates of special privilege. The sordid bribery and crookedness of Cabinet officers, the looting of the navy's oil reserves through the connivance of officers of the navy, the administrative crime of the Federal Reserve Board by which hundreds of thousands of farmers were deflated and ruined, the attempt to shift the burden of taxation from the rich to the poor under the Payson plan, the tribute exacted from the people through the Fordney-McCumber tariff and the unjustifiable freight rates under the Esch-Cummins law, were all prominent issues upon which the Coolidge administration was arraigned in the campaign which closed on Nov. 4."

"And yet I am wholly unable to believe that the election of Mr. Coolidge can be accepted as an endorsement of the Harding-Coolidge record by the American people. I have too much faith in the integrity of the plain people of our country. I believe that the Republican landslide resulted wholly from other causes."

Carried Fight to G. O. P.

"From the first, the progressives carried the fight to the Republican ticket in the campaign. They proved the domination of both the Democratic and Republican parties by the private monopoly system. The record of the Coolidge administration and the frank reactionary platform of the Republican party, the menacing stranglehold of the Democratic platform and the nomination of the private attorney of J. Pierpont Morgan brought a rising tide of support to the independent ticket. During August and September the reports brought to the managers of the Republican and Democratic parties showed an amazing swing to the Progressives, which, unless checked, indicated the defeat of the old parties."

"The private monopoly system saw its stranglehold upon the Government about to be broken. It sounded the alarm. The industrial, financial and commercial strength of the nation was mobilized for action. The money poured into the Republican slush fund. The economic thumb screws were twisted down upon the farmer, the wage earner and the independent business man. The Coolidge or starve was the slogan. The control of the private monopoly system over the economic life of the nation was demonstrated."

JAPAN IS VICTOR IN OPIUM CONTROVERSY

Britain, on Reopening of Geneva Conference, Agrees to Recognize Import Certificates.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Nov. 25.—The palace of the League of Nations was the scene of another sensational public meeting on the opium problem yesterday, when the Far Eastern opium conference was re-opened after words accusative, and almost violent in nature, between the Japanese, British and Indian delegates. An agreement was reached in principle on the matter which was one of the causes for the collapse of the first opium conference.

This matter concerns the freedom of Japan to import opium and recognition of import certificates by British authorities when Japan transships her opium at Hongkong to be sent in various directions.

Despite this accord, however, the first conference is generally regarded as practically a complete failure because it provides no effective system for putting an end to opium smoking in the Far East.

It was that object for which the first conference was called. When today's session opened, Sugimura of the Japanese delegation announced Japan would not sign the convention as drafted unless Japanese certificates were approved. He continued his offensive so hard that the British delegation finally gave in to the extent of agreeing to recognize the validity of all certificates issued by a Japanese Consul. This was considered a victory for Japan.

Sir Malcolm Delevigne of the British delegation repudiated charges that Great Britain was discriminating against Japan. He insisted it was unjust to bring such an accusation against a friendly Government. The Indian delegate declared that all Governments could not be placed on the same level, and hence the necessity for selection in recognizing opium purchases as legitimate.

The delegates themselves admit the only effective clause in the convention, which probably will be concluded next week, is that the Far Eastern Powers agree to meet in five years to re-examine into the problem of opium smoking.

DRIVE FOR SPRINGER HOME

Alliance Favors Effort to Prevent Foreclosure of Mortgage.

The movement to raise $50,000 to prevent foreclosure of a mortgage on the Catherine Springer Home, West Pine boulevard and Spring avenue, was indorsed at a meeting of the Ministerial Alliance yesterday. The institution is under the care of the Women's Christian Association, and gives board and room to homeless girls at an average cost of $7 a week.

Mrs. A. F. Hazeltine, president of the home's board of managers, told the ministers $50,000 must be had by Jan. 1. The property, formerly the Hollenbeck Hotel, was purchased in 1920 for $75,000, of which $34,000 has been paid to date. To pay off the balance, and leave a credit besides, $50,000 is asked.

Richmond Croford, 19 years old, of 218 Brunswick avenue, Webster Groves, a cable splicer for the Bell Telephone Co., is in danger of losing the sight of both eyes as the result of the splattering of molten lead from a pot with which he was working on a pole, at Wilmington and Virginia avenues, yesterday afternoon. It was possible a drop of water fell into the pot, causing the lead to sputter.

HAMILTON HOLY NOMINATED FOR BRANDEGEE'S SEAT

League Advocate Named by Connecticut Democrats to Oppose Gov. Elect Bingham.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 25.—Hamilton Holt, former editor of the New York Independent, and widely known as a League of Nations advocate, was unanimously nominated for United States Senator to fill the seat of the late Frank B. Brandegee this morning by the Democratic State convention. The nomination was by acclamation.

Holt's name was presented by former State Senator Charles C. Hemenway of Hartford, and seconding speeches were made by many delegates, including former National Committeeman Homer S. Cummings and former Congressman Augustus L. Loring of Hartford. Brief resolutions commending Holt to the electorate of the State were adopted.

A committee escorted Holt to the hall, where he briefly accepted the nomination. Holt's nomination is expected to bring the League of Nations to the front as a campaign issue.

By the Associated Press. HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 25.—Hiram Bingham, Republican Governor-elect, was nominated for United States Senator today by the first ballot. Bingham received 240 votes to 123 for Congressman John Q. Tilson of New Haven, 58 for Congressman Schuyler Merritt of Stamford, 44 for State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn of Hartford, and three for State Chairman J. Henry Roraback. The nomination was made unanimous by acclamation.

ANTITRUST SUIT AGAINST STANDARD SET FOR JANUARY
Barrett Will Have Finished Term by That Time and His Successor Will Take Over Case.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 25.—The Missouri Supreme Court, on Jan. 1, today set the Standard Oil Co. suit against the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana for hearing during the January call of court. No definite date has been set, however.

That will be after Attorney-General Jesse W. Barrett, who instituted the suit, and who has been making an effort to have the Court dispose of the case before he retires, goes out of office. Robert Otto, Attorney-General-elect, will have assumed office by that time, however. He has been an assistant Attorney-General under Barrett during the past four years and has announced that he will carry the case through in the same manner.

The Attorney-General is seeking to have the Court set the Standard Oil Co. from the State for alleged violation of the Missouri antitrust statutes.

STATE WITNESS CHANGES STORY AT MURDER TRIAL

Michael S. Woods "Can't Remember" Having Said He Saw John Neary Shoot Policeman Early.

SHOOTING WAS IN WOODS' SALOON

He, However, Identifies His Signature to Statement to Police in Which He Implicated Neary.

Michael S. Woods, proprietor of the saloon at 2880 Easton avenue, in which Patrolman Bernard Early was fatally shot July 26 last, today on the stand in Circuit Judge Hamilton's court repudiated his former statement before the coroner's jury in which he identified John Neary of 2591 Prairie avenue as Early's slayer. Neary, who is on trial in Judge Hamilton's court charged with murder in the first degree, himself admitted the killing at the inquest.

Woods testified that Neary entered the saloon prior to the shooting, bought a pack of cigarettes and departed. Later, Patrolman Early came in, and went to the washroom. At this juncture a man entered with a revolver and ordered everybody in the place to "stick 'em up." Woods said he dropped behind the bar and a moment later heard three shots, followed by more shooting on the sidewalk outside.

Admits Signature Is His. Confronted with his sworn testimony before the coroner's jury, in which he named Neary, Woods said he "didn't remember" the statements attributed to him. His recollection was equally faulty concerning a signed statement to the police implicating Neary, although he identified his signature on the document.

Thomas Higgins, 3945 Easton avenue, who was in the barroom at the time of the holdup, testified at the trial today that as the robber covered those in the place, Patrolman Early rushed from the washroom brandishing his nightstick. The robber fired three shots and fled with Early, mortally wounded, following him through the swinging door and out of Higgins' view. Higgins said he could not identify the robber.

Sam R. Gilliland, who was in the neighborhood of the saloon, said he heard three shots, muffled, as though they were fired inside a building. Then he heard four more shots outside and saw Patrolman Early running after a man, revolver in hand. It will be recalled that Early made his way to his calabos and after telling his desk sergeant that "Mike Woods' place was stuck up," fell to the sidewalk without mentioning his own wounds. He died an hour later.

Tells of Neary's Confession. Detective Lieut. Andrew Aylward of the Homicide Bureau related the circumstances of Neary's confession, denying that force or promises of clemency were used in gaining the statement.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnston, in his opening statement, said he would show that Neary met "Keggy" Fitzgerald on the night of the shooting in the neighborhood of the saloon, and after the meeting attempted to hold up the men in the bar. Fitzgerald has been sought by the police since the shooting.

The grand jury today resumed its investigation of the shooting, trying to find what part, if any, Fitzgerald played in the events of the night of the shooting.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

York musical comedy hits. The customers do not look or act any different from those who patronize the New York night clubs. The presence of a few over-dressed and unattended French girls snarling at unattached males is the only point of difference.

New York has planted its heel in all Paris places of entertainment. Out at the smart Chateau d'Alger, where all the world goes for tea, another jazz band will be found. Here they have taken a super-natural Coney Island idea, numbering squares on the dance floors. During the dance a wheel of fortune revolves and the couple that happens to be standing on the lucky number when the music stops receives a prize.

America is on their hands. One big vaudeville theater stars American acts. At least a third of the plays have American characters, and there is one theater in which American plays are being done in English.

And, despite the depreciation of the franc, American prices prevail along the usual tourist paths. The visitor who speaks French and can wander off into the quarters so unfortunate as not to draw the Yankee visitors will be astounded at the difference in the cost of things.

Despite all this, Paris has not held so many American travelers since the war as this season.

FASHION FRILLS

PARIS.—The recent discovery of old Arabic pottery in Tunisia has inspired some of the recent silk designs by Lyons manufacturers. In them the blues, tans and browns of the original pottery are reproduced together with the sheen or glaze which has been the despair of modern potters.

PARIS.—Velvet is now being "worked" just as fur is in the new evening wraps. That is the pile of the cloth is brushed in bands to form intricate designs. In most instances the coats are colored and blended with the fur which the cloth is made to simulate.

Cheese Soup. Heat three cups of milk, take one cup of milk and blend with three tablespoons of flour, and when blended, strain slowly into the hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, then add pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice, a teaspoonful of sugar, two leaves, and a cupful of grated cheese; stir constantly until the cheese is melted, then remove from the fire. Serve toast squares with the soup.

Mrs. Elizabeth Olfear, 85-year-old recluse of Irvington, N. J., has announced her intention of converting her 100-acre property into a model village for factory workers.

How Paddy's Pond Was Made Bigger

Honest work with clever wit
Never yet has had to quit.

—Paddy the Beaver.

PADDY the Beaver swam behind Mrs. Paddy over to the dam which made the pond in which was their home. They climbed out on the dam. It was a well-built dam. The top was quite a bit above the level of the water. The point at which they had climbed out was near one end. Just beyond where they were sitting the dam was a little lower. At this point the water was running from the pond over the dam down to the Laughing Brook below.

All the rest of the night they worked.

"All we have to do is to build the dam higher right there and keep that water from running over," said Mrs. Paddy. "That won't be a very big job. When we get that done and the water is held back, the pond will soon get deeper and will spread out and grow bigger. When it gets near enough to those aspen trees we must cut for food so that we can work in safety we can make a place in the dam for the extra water to run dragged one of these into the water and then swam with it back toward the dam. Mrs. Paddy was right behind him with another stick.

All the rest of the night they worked. They wasted no time talking. They cut slender young saplings growing on the shore of the pond and worked these in with the sticks. They brought brushy branches and used these. They dug up mud from along the foot of the dam and used this. They stuffed in grass roots. Slowly the water stopped running over the dam. It trickled through between the sticks and branches, but as more and more grass roots and mud were stuffed in even this was stopped.

Paddy and Mrs. Paddy worked until they were tired out. Then they went to their house and curled up for a nap in their splendid big bedroom. In the morning when they awoke the first thing they did was to swim over to the dam and look it over. The water was already considerably higher in the pond. They swam over to the place where their food trees were growing. The water was nearer to those trees than it had been the night before. They had breakfast there of aspen bark. Then they went back to work on the dam again. It was necessary to get this done as soon as possible, and so they intended to work by day as well as by night.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON By HELEN ROWLAND

THE DAILY DOZEN WIFELY VIRTUES.

HEAR now the prayer of a Wife, which is Mrs. Solomon's.

Oh, Lord, grant me the heart of a sportsman, that I may meet with fair play the Greatest Sporting Proposition in the world.

For, is not marriage a game of skill, requiring a level head, castiron nerves, a cool temper, and a poker face?

Yea, verily; and a good wife is first of all things, a Good Sport!

Give me the patience of a Duck Hunter, that I may race with fortitude my days as Lady-in-WAITING, and my nights as "Sister Ann"; for no man ever arriveth on time, for anything, save his own funeral.

Give me the imagination of a Fisherman and the vision of Al-nasser, that I may continue to drape my Beloved with illusions, to glorify him without a collar, to perceive his dignity and majesty when his face is covered with lather, and to think him beautiful even when he sleepeth with his mouth open.

Give me the faith of Mahomet, that I may trust mine husband better than mine own eyes, and BELIEVE whatsoever he saith, even when I know that he is fictionizing.

Bestow upon me the strength of Samson, that I may never weary of hunting for his lost treasures, PICKING UP HIS THINGS, sweeping up his debris, counting his laundry, and playing his favorite games.

Give me the nerves of a clam and the agility of a fireman, that I may be ready to rush the breakfast—and then keep it waiting; to jump into my glad clothes at a signal; and to go anywhere, from a baseball game to Darkest Africa, at a moment's notice.

Give me the everlasting charm of Ninon de L'Enclos, the chic of a Paris mannikin, the diplomacy of Talleyrand, the discretion of an archbishop, the coziness of a chorus girl, the naivete of Mary Pickford, the wisdom of Solomon, and the placidity of an Angora cat.

Yea, grant me these lady virtues, oh Lord, that I may be all things unto one man—and that one, happy!—SELAH.

Too Good to Resist

Even a 'friendly' Indian would have been tempted to run off with a Thanksgiving pie baked with Valier's Enterprise Flour. Of course our fifth great-grandmother didn't have Enterprise—but she did bake real pies. She baked them with flour milled from wheat grown rich and strong in America's virgin soil.

Such wheat is scarce today—but we make the effort and pay the price required to get it. It is carefully selected from the most favored areas in the hard wheat belt. And only the rich, glutenous centers are used in milling Enterprise.

That's why Enterprise is always worth the little difference between its cost and that of ordinary flour. Its abundant Strength never varies. For tempting, tender pie-crusts, well leavened loaves of bread, for all of your baking—Thanksgiving and every other day—you can always depend on Enterprise. Get a sack today.

GONE ARE THE DAYS.

In days of yore the players tore off cars without compunction; The sight of noses running gave unto their souls was unctious. To tread a stately minuet Upon somebody's features, Gave joy without the least regret To many hard-boiled creatures. But now a change has come about, On which Knute Rockne touches; They never knock a player out Or measure him for crutches. While now and then a nose is peeled, They are not taking chances On being toted from the field To waiting ambulances.

According to the views of Knute, Whose spleen appears to rankle, A tackle would be called a brute Who'd twist a player's ankle. It's 'Willie, pass the leather, please, I trust you'll not refuse me.' And such placating words as these: "Beg pardon," or, "excuse me."

A FEW MINUTES WITH THE SCOTCH.

I MAY have asked the question before. Still I must ask it again: Why, oh why, must they always put them on the Scotch? But always they do. And here's a batch of short ones to prove it: Three Scots go to church. The minister announces that he is tired of finding farthings and pennies in the contribution box. The work of the Lord must be carried on. "I shall have my eye on each one here," he said. "I shall expect nothing less than a shilling." Accompanied by the watchful dominie the box starts on its rounds of the congregation. The three friends hold a whispered consultation. The collector comes nearer and nearer to where they sit. The situation grows desperate. Then, at the very last moment, they have an inspiration. One of them faints and the remaining two carry him out.

A long-faced Aberdonian is speaking. With a long-drawn sigh he laments: "Ah, well, it was hard but I ha' given up smoking. It's because of the high cost of tobacco. If ye buy your ain expense breks your heart if ye borrow some fra' a friend you pack your pipe so full it won't draw."

A PLEASANT TIME FOR AUNTIE.

An elderly lady who lived in a remote interior village came to visit her niece and her niece's husband at their home in one of Philadelphia's most fashionable suburbs. Nearby was a very well-known golf course. On her second afternoon as a guest the visitor went out alone for her stroll. Upon her return the young hostess said: "Well, Auntie, did you enjoy yourself?" "Oh, yes, indeed," said Auntie, beaming. "Before I had walked very far I came to some beautiful rolling fields. There seemed to be a number of persons about, men mostly, and some of them kept shouting at me in a very eccentric manner but I took no notice. There were four men who followed me for some time, uttering curious excited barking sounds. Naturally, I ignored them, too. Oh, by the way," she added, "I found such a number of curious little round white things. I picked them all up and brought them home to ask you what they are."

PRINCE TRIED

"After All, He's Your Husband," Blackmail Victim
Said to Companion as Trap Was Sprung.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Nov. 20.—"If it's possible for a gentleman of color to turn green, that's what 'Mr. A' did."

This testimony was offered today by Montague Noel Newton as a description of how the young millionaire Prince of India acted when Newton broke into a Paris hotel bedroom and found "Mr. A" with Mrs. Maude Robinson.

Newton, who testified that Mrs. Robinson was the author of the $150,000 blackmail trap by which the young potentate was mulcted and that he was the brains of its execution, resumed the stand today and detailed the incidents of the plot's fruition. He is the star witness for a sum he said was $1000 (approximately $15,000) of the suit of Charles Robinson, the husband, to recover $125,000 of the blackmail money he says his associates illegally withdrew from the bank.

Couldn't Catch Him in London. Newton testified that his own plans made it necessary that the plot be carried out quickly. There was uncertainty about being able to catch the young Prince with Mrs. Robinson in London, he continued, so the English officer, who was the Prince's aid de camp, suggested the scene of the dramatic denouement be transferred to Paris.

Mrs. Robinson, her companion, Mrs. Lilian Bevan, and all concerned were consulted. Mrs. Robinson had a daughter, Newton said, but she was not present at any of the conferences.

So the participants in the plot moved to Paris. On his arrival, Newton said, he met Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Bevan at their hotel and Mrs. Robinson pointed out her bedroom.

"The doors will be unlocked," Newton said she told him. He entered in the early morning, at about 6 o'clock. Mrs. Robinson jumped out of bed and attacked him, crying, put into him.

"My brute of a husband! It's just the sort of thing you would do," he testified. "She mauled me about," he testified, "and scratched me so that I had to tell her to stop or she would tear the clothes from my back."

The young Prince tried to calm Mrs. Robinson. "After all, he's your husband, Maude," he told her, but the moral philosophy of that point seemed lost on Mrs. Robinson, according to Newton.

At this point counsel asked how the young potentate took the situation. "If it's possible for a gentleman of color to turn green, that's what he did," Newton replied.

Newton then left the hotel, he continued, and later, the aid-de-camp came to him and said the Prince had left the details of hushing it up to him. That same afternoon, Newton, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Bevan and the aid-de-camp returned to London on the same train.

Some time later, the aide de camp produced two checks, each for $125,000 pounds. One could be cashed immediately and arrangements were being made to meet the second, Newton said. When it was feared Scotland Yard would intervene, Robinson said he wanted nothing more to do with the affair, Newton said. At that time, William Cooper Hobbs, described as another of the conspirators, announced he had been given a power of attorney by Robinson. Newton testified it was arranged to offer Robinson $24,000 pounds for himself and the women, the rest of the $150,000 pounds being divided between Newton, Bevan and the aide de camp. Hobbs took the balance and opened a bank account in the name of Robinson.

Newton a Convicted Forger. Newton admitted he was convicted of forgery in 1907. He admitted that he went to India and tried to collect the second check from the Prince. He denied that
